Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 27 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with showers throughout, heavier later. Colder than recently.

Today:
A cloudy day throughout, with scattered showers through the morning, turning heavier and more frequent through the afternoon. Feeling mild, but colder than recently, with winds remaining light throughout the day. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
The showers become more grouped into the night, and generally lighter, before easing towards dawn. Winds strengthening slightly overnight but easing off again into the morning. Milder than recently. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another cloudy day, with further showers, though primarily in southern areas, with northern areas seeing drier conditions. Becoming dry through the evening and overnight throughout. Feeling colder than recently. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
More frequent scattered showers through Thursday and Friday across the region. Likewise on Saturday, though potentially heavier in nature. Light winds throughout and remaining cold with night frosts possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.